Friday and Saturday are the last days to get new car tags without paying 25 percent penalty. The Sheriff did not make the law. It is his duty to enforce it.

It is a disgrace to Grenada that the wives of some soldiers are being exploited by rent profiteerers shamelessly. The wives have a natural desire to be with their husbands just as long as possible and it is a shame before God and man that they should be held up. To the eternal credit of Grenada, however, most of the war wives are treated right and many of them are almost members of the families whose homes they temporarily occupy.

It is just my luck that the old lady picked out a time when it is cold as the devil to go off to Hot Springs and leave me here alone.

We are indebted to Miss Spud de Beans for her contribution to the society page, also to Mr. Harry Greenfield. Miss de Beans pulls no punches in fact, I came mighty near censoring some of her stuff.

To Mr. Greenfield goes the prize for what I consider the best suggestion of the week: that the flag in the public park be lowered to half mast during the funeral services and the burial of boys who come home for the eternal rest.

If it gets any colder I am going to do as I did in France, that is take off only my shoes when I retire.

Grenada county has lost 20-25 boys already. The grim tragedy is that we have just started. Our losses will get greater before they get smaller. We are now up against the real thing—the Germans.

Dear Mabel: x x x x papa.

Our Mr. Horn planned to go to Sunday School AND church services last Sunday, but his constitution and the aged building where church services are held could not stand the strain

It is not lack of reverence and regard for the dead soldiers, nor any lack of interest in them and their families that prevent me from attending military funerals. 25 years ago, I was in command of a guard of honor where, I think, 23 soldiers were buried at one time. Since that time, I just can not stand to hear "Taps" sounded. "Taps" just does something to me that I cannot explain.

This is a free press and, as such, it can guess that either the 84th Division or the 94th Division will soon occupy Camp McCain.

Col. Henry Kahn has returned to Duck Hill after a month's pleasant visit in Chester, Ill. He wanted to get closer to Mike Conner.

It is a great pity that every person in the world can not see the picture, "The Oxbow Incident" which graphically portrays the ill results that come from taking circumstantial evidence, or at "jumping at conclusions."

Congratulations to Mrs. Flora Anderson Parks on an award she recently received in her line of work. A full account will appear next week.

Cut down on bread and potatoes, sister.

I have been leading a mighty good life since the old lady has been away, not a thing that I would not do when she was here.

Speaking of old ladies, nobody has a sweeter one than I have. I would not swap her off for any I have seen yet.

If you have paid your subscription wtihin the last six weeks and have not noted any change in your expiration date, do not worry. We will get to the revision of our mailing list sometime in the sweet by and by.

We are just now getting to acknowledge receipt of a subscription to Pfc. Hardy C. Vance somewhere, but nobody knows. Hope you get another stripe soon, soldier.

"Runt" Mohead and Wilson Inman, both of Little Texas, subscribed the same day. One bird with two stones, or vice versa.

Old age is honorable, but old age is no asset to an officer in a war for existence. The army ought to get rid of some of these old dudes.

Our readers and I welcome back to our columns the items from our favorite correspondent. She has been AWOL for about a month, maybe pining about that handsome young Lieutenant.

Cpl. Herman D. Marshall "Missing In Action"

Corporal Herman D. Marshall, according to a telegram received by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy R. Marshall from the Adjutant General of the Armies, is missing in action in the Asiatic area, where he was a member of a Ferrying Command in the Army Air Corps. Corporal Marshall, a former employee of the Coca-Cola Company, has been in service 14 months, of which 5 have been overseas.

Every one, we are sure, joins us in the hope that this fine young airman is not dead, and that he will show up soon.

W. C. Farrar Dead

Mrs. Thelma Harris, Mrs. R. E. McKelvaine and Mrs. J. C. Morgan were called to Sanatorium Friday of last week on account of the death of their brother and Mrs. Morgan's nephew, W. C. Farrar. The funeral was held at Meridian Monday.

His mother, Mrs. C. F. Farrar and brother, Vardie Farrar came down from Washington, D. C. for the funeral and are spending a few days in Grenada.

A. B. VAUGHAN DIES AT GRENADA

A. B. Vaughan, former resident of Itta Bena and Greenwood, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Mullins, in Grenada. He had been in failing health for the past 12 years.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Hethodist Church in Itta Bena with interment in Itta Bena cemetery.

He is srvived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. Ches Schnelda, Corinth; Miss Frances Vaughan, Memphis; A. D. Vaughan, rGeenwood; Mrs. L. R. Ogletree, Spring Hill, La.; Mrs. eKnneth Mullins, Grenada; Hoyt G. Vaughan, U. S. Army.

Mr. Vaughan had made his home in Greenwood with his son, A. D. Vaughan until last year. He was well known here and in Itta Bena where he was employed at the Itta Bena Oil Mill until illness caused his retiredment 12 years ago.—Greenwood Commonwealth

Grenada Drops Tough One To Canton 14 To 6

On their last road trip of the season Friday night, the Grenada Bulldogs went down under a strong Canton attack, 14 to 6, to absorb their second defeat in six starts. The game, being non-conference, did not affect the Bulldogs' record of three wins and no losses in the conference thus far.

The Bulldogs opened the scoring in the first period when Canton fumbled on their own 35 and put the Grenada boys in a position to score. On two plays, Avent and Robinson made a first down on tne 10. Robinson, led by beautiful interference, scampered around his right end and scored standing up. Jones failed to add the point when he was stopped at the line. Canton's power put them within scoring distance several times before they actually scored, but the heroic Bulldog line and Canton's own miscues held them at aby until the second quarter. In that period Rings went over for the score from the 10, and Muller converted, Canton 7, Grenada 6. Late in the second period the Bulldogs began to road. Fading, with perfect blocking, from his own 36, Avent fired a 28-yard aerial to Spears, and on the very next play Spears grabbed a 20-yard looper from the Bulldogs' captain and was almost away for the score. Robinson dashed off right tackle for down on the 4. On the next play the speedy wingback picked up a yard before the half ended with Grenada on Canton's 4, second down and goal to go.

The two teams played back and forth in the third period, with fumbles and intercepted passes providing thrills for the crowd. Late in the last quarter Canton marched to the Grenada 19, and on fourth down, failed to gain. However, a Bulldog unnecessary roughness penalty gave Canton a first down on the 4. Pevey scored on the next play right through the middle and Muller converted to end the scoring for the night.

The game Bulldog team played their host nip and tuck all during the tussle, but the tremendous power of the Canton backfield finally wore Grenada down. Canton registered ten first downs to six for the Bulldogs.

Grenada entertains Sallis Friday night at Proby Field at 8 o'clock.

S/Sgt. "Mickey" Angevine has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for participating in the raid on Ploestic Rumanian Oil Fields. "An experience he will never forget to his dyeing day," says "Mickey".

Innis presented Miss Hill a War Stamp corsage.

Women May Enlist Directly In Air Forces

Under the provisions of a new ruling by the War Department, women may enlist directly in the Army Air Forces, and as members of the Women's Army Corps become active soldiers in the organization.

A drive has been launched in which it is expected that thousands of women will be recruited for the Army Air Forces WAC's. This intensive campaign lasts from October 20 to December 20.

This drive supplements the original plan for the enlistment of 150,000 women by the United States Army into its vital auxiliary component, the Women's Auxiliary Army Carps. The plan to recruit 150,000 women was first started in September, 1942, but soon afterward, due to the competence which American women displayed in the armed service, this quota was lifted to 300,000. Now, after one year, only 65,000 women, or one-fifth of the number authorized, have enlisted. Today the Chief of Staff says that the Army actually needs 000,000 women to be procured over the next twelve months.

With the auxiliary status dropped, and this new Army a vital part of the nation's armed forces, the Women's Army Corps has urgent need for American womanhood. Requirements for joining are that the enlistee must be between the ages of 20 and 49, inclusive, and a citizn of the United States. She may be married or single, but must be without dependents, without children under 14 years of age. Her character must be excellent, of course. Two years of high school and a satisfactory aptitude rating meet the educational resuirement. High school may be waised in the case of a woman whose aptitude rating shows equivalent ability. Health must be good, as a physical examination must be passed.

Women from Grenada and surrounding teritory interested in information may obtain it from WAC Headquarters at the Grenada Army Air Field. Any applicant who is accepted during the present campaign is definitely assured of assignment to the Army Air Forces if she so desires. This is a choice which she may not have later.

Promoted

News has been received of the promotion of Earl L. Gillon to S/Sgt. Air Corps somewhere in England. Earl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam E. Gillon, who reside in the Gore Springs community. He receives news from home weekly through the Grenada County Weekly.

Lt. Robert H. Horn Killed In Crash Friday

Lt. Robert H. Horn, United States Air Corps, was killed in the crash of a one-seater fighter near Waycross, Georgia about dark on Friday, October 22, 1943.

He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Horn, of Grenada, was born in Grenada, attended Grenada High School, the University of Mississippi and Millsaps College and, when he enlisted in the Air Corps, was in the early stages of the long medical course. On October 1st, he received the coveted wings of the Air Corps pilot and with them the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant. He and his bride of a few weeks, the former Miss Annette Simmons, of Biloxi, were in Grenada just two weeks ago. She was in Waycross when the fatal accident occurred. Perhaps only God knows how the accident happened.

Upon arrival of the body in Grenada, a group of members of the American Legion met and escorted the body.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon by the Pastor, Rev. W. L. Robinson. Mr. John Rundle, the Superintendent of the City Schools made a short talk. Another short talk was made by one of Robert's former fellow students from Millsaps. Burial followed, where a firing squad from Grenada Army Air Base served to give Robert a military funeral.

Surviving him are his widow; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Horn and two brothers, Staff Sgt. Clyde Horn, of March Field and H. D. Horn, Jr., of Washington, D. C. His death represents the first broken link in the family chain, except an uncle who died in infancy.

Active pallbearers were Messrs. John Biddy, Donald Lockett, Al Gully, Dick Smith, Lewis Weir, Sr. and J. C. Hathorn.

Honorary pallbearers were Willard Odom, Homer Williams, Vassar Dubard, Dr. R. A. Clanton, D. M. Taylor, Joe Jackson, Roy Doak, John Rundle, Newt Rayburn, J. M. Talbert, John Pressgrove, Dr. S. Sharp, Fred Lickfold, Jr., John Murray, Clifton Curle, Sidney Jackson and W. O. Gosslin.

The masses of gorgeous flowers and the attendance of such a large number of people attested in a mute way how highly the people of Grenada regarded this young man, taken almost at the sunrise of his life, and the members of his family.

The length of the list of our fine young men who have lost their lives in the service of their country lengthens.

Any reference to persons living or dead is purely coincidental

Lt. Bascolm B. Buncome's real wife visited him unexpectedly on Fonday and wasn't his face red. He lost all of his standing with his landlady and there's no telling how much hell he caught from his pseudo wife and his real wife.

Mr. Jamse L. Smithkin went home sober the other night with the result that the dog almost chased him out of the yard and is wife hardly let him in the front door.

Mrs. Peter B. Kine and her five children (having used all of their points) have been visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. James C. Scout on Pelican Street, and when the visitors left the Scout family had to live on bread, milk and cereals for two weeks.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

The heavily mortgaged home of Mrs. G. I. Smutz on Avenue A was the scene of a delightful bridge party, in which 12 overdressed ladies participated, and at which one of the players, to cover her embarrassment at trumping her partner's ace, threw a fit, but was revived by a shot of her favorite licker.

A nice plate of non-rationed food was served at the conclusion of the games and nobody seemed to enjoy the meal as it was deficient in vitamins.

Mrs. Butts received high score prize, a package of ten cent bath powder which she recognized as some she had given the hostess at a prize several months previously. A boody prize of a couple of bobby pins was awarded the low score holders. Oh, hell, why go on

SPITTS-CATTS

A wedding uniting two former WPA families was solemnized at the court house Friday when Miss Curly Catts became the bride of Mr. Dry Spitts.

The groom wore a becoming suit of clothes the Red Cross gave him during the 1936 flood, while the bride was attirked in a mauve colored ensemble with yellow and red trimmings. The groom received a meager education at the home school where he was expelled for being a peeper, while the bride was so dumb she stayed in the fourth grade until they finally gave her a diploma in desperation.

They do not know what they are going to do for all they were thinking of was the irate father with a shotgun who was in the offing. However, they are going to stay first with one family, then the other.

Pine Hill has got to be a popular resort.

The Guggenheim family, including the cook who repeatedly threatened to quit, are mighty glad that the visit of their in-laws from Chicago is over. The Guggenheims had had so few operations, compared to those of their in-laws, that they could not get a word in edgewise.

That was all bull about that woman being that man's wife.

ALFRESCOE DINNER

One of our ladies named Jones living on Pershing Avenue put on what she called an al frescoe dinner the other night, and all she had was weiners because she thought that al frescoe was frankfurters in French. Canned ones at that.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Boatswain, after promising their prospective son-in-law 49 percent of their business, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Arthritis, to Mr. James L. Goober. The parents thought they had another fellow hooked, but he enlisted in the paratroop infantry bound for Italy. Miss Boatswain is quite a homely dame, needs Listerine all the time and Mum three times a day. Nobody believes the boy is going to get any big bargain.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jettison are being welcomed with open arms into the younger married set, as the Jettisons brought with them to Grenada abount seven cases of the real stuff.

Col. Bitstick thought marrying his secretary would be a pushover, until she told him that he had too darn much mileage.

Somebody reported that a fellow north of Grenada lost his wad of chewing gum in the hen house and, looking for it that night, tried several wads before he found the gum.

The Beermans who made a big show in the 3rd War Loan Drive by buying $2,000.00 worth of bonds cashed them in just as soon as possible.

BATTER-SUMMERS

Miss Lisa Summers, who swore in Judge Smith's divorce court last week that she never wanted to see a man again, much less live with one, and was given back her maiden name, was united in more or less holy matrimony with Mr. Bumble Batters by Judge Tie, M. Up at the court house early Monday morning.

They left immediately for Ackerman on their honeymoon, for that's about the only place in the United States where one can find a room.

Oh, hell, I'm tired of writing society news.

Mrs. Chester V. Ragland Receives Air Medal

A little grey haired woman stood at attention while the men and women of the Grenada Army Air Field passed by in review. Yes, Mrs. Chester V. Ragland of 1426 University Avenue, Oxford, Mississippi, was proud. She had just received the coveted Air Medal from Lt. Col. John C. Bennett, Commanding Officer of the Grenada Army Air Field, for her son, Technical Sergeant James Leenard, a gunner on a flying fortress who was shot down in a raid on Gelsenkirchen, Germany last August 12th.

However, it was not her greatest thrill. That came in the form of a telegram from the Adjutant General, Major General James A. Ulio, stating James was safe, and being held as a prisoner of war in Germany. Following that came a telegram from the International Red Cross from James. It said, "Dear Mom; Am safe in Germany, [illegible] wounded. Treatment fine, and food sufficient. Write often. Hello to everyone. Love. James."

James Leenard Ragland is your son, my son, and the heart and pulse of America. H eis twenty two years old, and was orn in Oxford, Mississippi. He graduated at University High School in that city, and entered the service of his country on April 17, 1942.

James was inducted at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, and after the intensive training required of all combat men in the Air Force was assigned to a flying fortress. He won his wings as a Crew Chief, and arrived in England on June 12th, 1943. He took place in quite a few raids, and it was an this last raid that Captain Clerk Gable was in the lead plane.

Yes, the sun was setting, and retreat was being sounded. As the flag was lowered, we noticed a certain gleam in Mrs. Ragland's eyes, a gleam of pride, a gleam of the day that is coming when her James will be home, and a certain indescribable gleam of that day when all men will stand that final retreat with eyes upheld and dignity in their hearts.

IN MEMORY OF MY COUSIN, MRS. ROBERT RATLIFF

Dedicated, to her Husband, Robert Ratliff

True to her Maker always; she willingly answered His call to a land where pain and death is not known. A debt we all must pay some day; why did she have to go now? Because God needed her in that Heavenly band to sing His praises forever more.

She was a kind and loving wife and mother; never complaining, no matter what the charge might be. No one else in this old world can never take her place; and when that great Judgment Morning comes she with all God's other Saints will joyfully meet her Maker in the sky—to die no more.

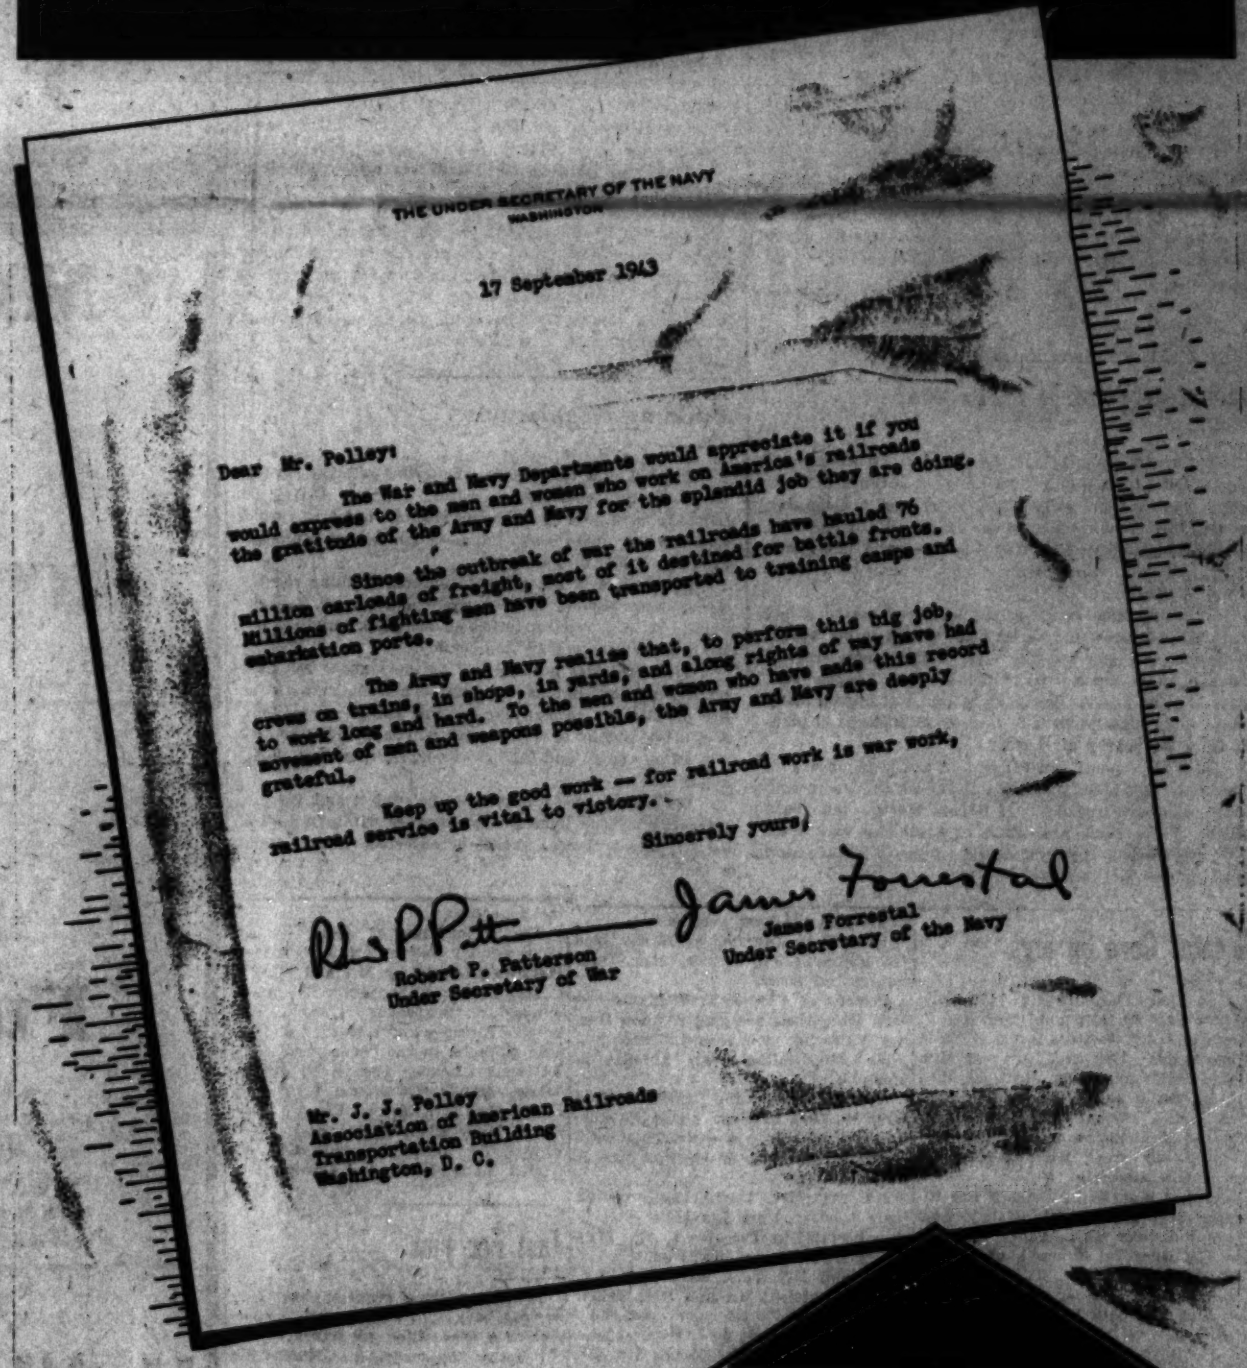
A SALUTE TO RAILROAD WORKERS FROM THE ARMY AND THE NAVY



THE UNDER SECRETARY OF THE NAVY
WASHINGTON
17 September 1943
Dear Mr. Pelley:
The War and Navy Departments would appreciate it if you would express to the men and women who work on America's railroads the gratitude of the Army and Navy for the splendid job they are doing.
Since the outbreak of war the railroads have hauled 76 million carloads of freight, most of it destined for battle fronts. Millions of fighting men have been transported to training camps and embarkation ports.
The Army and Navy realize that, to perform this big job, crews on trains, in shops, in yards, and along rights of way have had to work long and hard. To the men and women who have made this record of movement of men and weapons possible, the Army and Navy are deeply grateful.
Keep up the good work — for railroad work is war work, railroad service is vital to victory.
Sincerely yours,
Robert P. Patterson

MEETINGS OF THE WEEK

Monday—The Dramatic Club met Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the auditorium. hTe members answered the roll call with the name of an actress or actor. Announcements were made concerning the class dues. Then the play "Maid Service" was presented. The cast were Myrtice Nilson, Lois Abel, Lula Mae McCormick, Bebe Cullen, and Director Ida Pearl Ortig.

Tuesday—The boys glee club has a good start. The fifteen boys in the group are enjoying the training. Why don't some more come? It meets Tuesday morning at 8:30. The girls glee club meets every Tuesday and Friday afternoon during activity period, and they also have a good start; they sound good from study hall.

REV. HENDERSON SPEAKS AT CHAPEL

Chapel began Wednesday with the "pledge of allegiance" to the Flag followed by the Star Spangled Banner. Rev. E. R. Henderson, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, led the devotional with a short talk and prayer. It was announced that the Junior and Senior Classes of the High School would help in the distribution of the Government Ration Book No. 4.

Mr. Rundle announced that the school would be dismissed for the first of the four scheduled assembly numbers that will take place at 10 a. m. Friday.

Larry Noble, Manager of the GHS football team urged the student body to uphold our school and attend the football game. He gratefully acknowledged the fine attendance at the previous games, but he stressed the fact that our team fights and fights hard to win the game and the least the students can do is to come out and support them.

GIRL RESERVE COMMITTEES

At the weekly meeting of the Girl Reserves the following committees were formed:

Program, Ruth Talbert, Willie Evelyn Campbell, Julia Guidry, Laverne Wilson.

Song Leaders, Polly Elliott, Helen Dubard, Jean Gunter.

Service Committee, Bebe Cllen, Spe Robinson, Eleanor Green, Olga Lewis.

Ruth Talbert and Bebe Cullen were [illegible] ference at Winona and one delegate will be chosen by the club as a whole. Margaret Green is vice-president of the conference.

Of Course You're Thrilled, Young Lady!

. . . So many things have been happening since school started . . . so many new friends to talk to, and so much to talk about.

Certainly you're thrilled, young lady! But before calling, please remember that all telephone lines are crowded now. If you're a party line user, it's especially important to avoid unnecessary calling—and to speak briefly always. Telephone materials aren't available to build enough lines for everybody, so we must make the most of the facilities we have.

Your help in keeping the lines clear will be appreciated by a lot of people.

FRIDAY ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

We all enjoyed seeing the monkeys, even if some of us do resmble them. Mr. Taber gave a very interesting talk on the different animals as he showed them. We are looking forward to the next assembly program.

DIRT

Has anyone noticed Guy's "plain" shirts and those overalls?

Are those boots or boats Teddy wears?

Dave Dogan had a date with Mary A. Saturday night. How about that?

Poor Blanton and Barbara still don't know where they sit in study hall.

Girls, there is no need to rush to get a football picture cause those boys won't give them up.

Tough luck Townes. We all hope you have quick recovery. We'll be thinking about you and pulling for you.

Jean Gesslin and Betty Greenhill did well in hollering for 34 and 31 on the football team Friday night.

First Prayer In Congress Made In December, 1777

The first prayer in Congress, made by the Rev. I. Duche, under date of December, 1777—

"O Lord, our Heavenly Father, high and mighty King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, who dost Thy throne behold all the dwellers on earth and reignest with power supreme and uncontrolled over all the kingdoms, empires and who have fled to Thee from the rod of the oppressor, and thrown themselves on Thy gracious protection, desiring henceforth to be independent only on Thee, to Thee they have appealed for the righteousness of their cause; to Thee do they now look up for that countenance and support which Thou alone canst give; take them therefore, Heavenly Father, under Thy nurturing care; give them wisdom in council and valor in the field; defeat the malicious designs of our cruel adversaries; convince them of the unrihteousness of their cause; and if they persist in their sanguinary purpose, O let the voice of Thy own unerring justice, sounding in their hearts, constrain them to drop the weapons of war from their unnerved hands in the day of battle! Be Thou present, O God of wisdom, and direct the councils of this honorable assembly; enable them to settle things on the best and surest foundation. That the scene of blood may be speedily closed; that order, harmony and peace may be effectually restored and truth and justice, religion and piety prevail and flourish among Thy people. Preserve the health of their bodies and rigor of their minds abower down on them, and millions they here represent, such temporal blessings as Thou seest expedient for them in this world, and crown them with everlasting glory Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Savior, Amen."

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

It looks like folks have forgotten the OPA.

If the Northern folks would let us alone, we could settle the so-called race question. Good white people and good negroes have lived peacefully together for several generations. It is the contentious element in each group that causes trouble.

Brother Lufkin, I am sorry to hear, is not getting on so well, but he did not forget to send Mrs. Lufkin in to renew their subscription.

Lr. Wheeler Johnson has been acting mighty gay while he left his wife at home. She had better come with him EVERY day.

We are sorry to learn that our old friend, the father of Mrs. Hodgkins, sustained a broken hip this week. He is a fine old gentleman and, in talking with him, believe he is a man of highest character.

There is some, if little consolation, in the knowledge recently revealed that Lt. Bert Johnston is a German prisoner of war, instead of being killed in action over the Rumanian oil fields.

His friends and the friends of his family will be proud to learn that Kenneth Youngblood, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Youngblood, has been elected president of the "S" Club at Southeastern College at Hammon, La.

Lt. (j. g.) Gerrals T. Moss, enroute from his old station to his new station, stopped over a few days to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Moss.

Glad to hear that Newt Rayburn has returned from the Baptist Hospital after a considerable stay, but is now back at Grenada Bank. No persons have been more kind to others in trouble, whether in the hospital or elsewhere, than the Rayburns.

If our soldier subcribers keep, on moving about as much as in the past, we are going to have to devote all of our attention to changing their addresses, instead of publishing a newspaper.

Mrs. Richard Locke spent the week end in Camp Wheeler, Ga., with her husband, Pvt. Locke.

FREE JACKETS FOR GASOLINE COUPONS

If you would like a wallet, or "jacket" in which to keep your gasoline ration coupons, you can secure one free from your nearest Standard Oil dealer.

These jackets have proved so popular among motorists, in preserving their valuable but flimsy gas coupon sheets, that the first run of a million jackets was soon exhausted, and a new supply is now ready for distribution.

The new jackets provides two pockets instead of one. It will accommodate conveniently not only Basic and Supplementary Ration coupons, but also Tire Inspection Record and other incidental papers. There is also a space for a record of gasoline purchases—date, quantity and speedometer reading.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become overtaxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

CREOMULSION

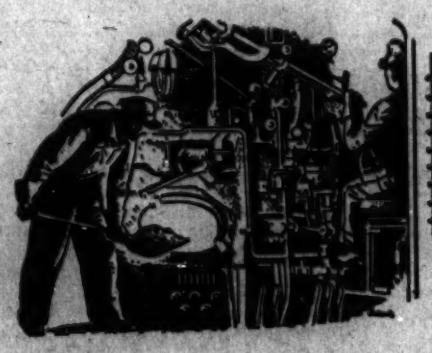
Action never ceases on this "Firing Line"...



DAY AND NIGHT, the Battle of Transportation goes on.

Every rail line is a battle line. The "soldiers" who operate trains, who repair cars and locomotives, who keep tracks in condition, are as truly a part of our fighting machine as those who storm an enemy position. They have earned high praise from generals and admirals, who know that without them there could be no victories.

In the total movement to the fighting front, one mile is as important as another. Every soldier must do a lot of traveling in this country before he can advance into enemy territory. Likewise, the stuff of which shells and ships and tanks are made must be hauled to factories, and the finished products to seaports.

Railroaders are strangers to flags and bands. There is no glamour in their uniforms. Yet they are warriors in a vital sense, battling against odds to speed their country's progress toward victory.

The Illinois Central is proud of its valiant fighters in the crucial Battle of Transportation.

I wonder if your paper could help us boys here in Camp McCain acquire a piano for our day room. Perhaps one of your readers may have an old one that they use no longer and would like us boys to have it. We would call for it and haul it away ourselves. We would be grateful indeed if we could get one. Please try to help us.

Thank you,

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYE

By Mrs. W. W. Whitaker

Leaving Grenada at 5:20, the trip to Memphis was made delightful by Mrs. Campbell, with whom I sat and conversed. Mrs. C. is the wife of Col. C. at Station Hospital, Camp McCain, so there's a new item for you. The activity around the Bus Station is surprisingly interesting early in the morning. There is that crowd of tired travelers awaiting the bus for St. Louis and the more rested crowd going into Memphis. The morning I left there were a few "ladies of the evening" as you call them, painted and cheap and wearing soiled slacks and smocks, "carrying on" with a few of the tough looking soldiers. It's a fact, the soldier boys who give the impression that they are from good homes, never notice these these bad girls any more than if they didn't exist. At least that's how it appears to me.

Had breakfast at Walgreen's Drug Store and left Memphis at 10 o'clock on the Greyhound bus. There was only standing room for some of the men. Women are worse about the "knock down-drag out" method of boarding the bus than the men are, and the men are bad enough. Those busses hold about 36 to 40 people—and lets say there are 28 people pushing to get aboard first. The boy about 15 gets on first regardless, then the big women who uses her suit case to hit people about the knees and her elbow and glaring eyes to get second place. One nice way to handle the men is to step back and say in a pleasant voice, "You take my place in line. I'm not in a hurry." That "gets 'em" every time, and the whole crowd slows down on shoving.

We stoped at Brinkley for lunch. The food was perfectly awful, the waitresses indifferent and careless. There was an old grey haired cripple man outside the station holding his hat, and I talked to him while awaiting the reloading of the bus. I asked him what kind of town—good or bad?—and he said he wkas getting out that night as he didn't like it. Said the marshal had killed six men—some of them white men and that whiskey was freer than good water. Looking at one small town after the other from the bus window, noting the cotton (seemingly unrestricted acres) the rice fields and the oats fresh green carpet. I reflected that should a master hand clear away the shabby old out houses, the delapidated fences, the broken dead trees, how fine this could be. Filthy dives located along the main highways of the South should be burned. They indicate to our visitors and to those at home, for that matter, poorly enforced laws—both moral and civic.

Had a half hour for a cup of coffee in the beautiful Coffee Shop in the Marion in Little Rock, and saw again that beautiful old State House, white with the antique iron grill, which is used now as a Shrine. This building housed the government of Arkansas during the Civil War.

From Little Rock to Hot Springs the scenery was a riot of autumn colors. The crimson of the of the shumack, the brilliant yellows of the hickory nut, the bronze red of the oak and the flame of the blackgum were all too wonderful to describe.

Arrived at the Majestic only to find it full or (nearly so). I have a charming blue and white room, yellow flowered drapes, etc., and oh how I can sleep in its quiet. First bath on Saturday morning. On Saturday night met the editor and wife from Alexandria, La. and must say they are delightful people, some Tennessee people and a dear old lady from Georgia. Had a SODA FOUNTAIN drink with the editor and wife before retiring at 10:30 and today is Sunday. Have had two cups of coffee and an unusually hot bath. Feel fine and relaxed. This is truly a great place and expect to get a lot of resting done.

Oh yes, the Alexandria folks knew Mrs. Cecil McLarty Thompson, old friend of mine from girlhood days, so well. Cecil died several years ago, after living in Alexandria all of her married life. She played the pipe organ at Presbyterian Church and of course had legions of friends.

All of the ladies here have sons, grandsons and husbands in the service. You can see the tears lying deep within their eyes and their compassion for others who have already lost their beloved sons.

So long as there are loyal Americans, such as one meets on trips like this, there's not much sense in Americans developing a complex of any kind. Truly good habits, like lots of Americans give evidence of possessing, will pay off in rich dividends at the crucial time.

Let The Army Move In

I am likely to get cussed out by some army wives (as I was another time when I brought up this subject) for what I am going to say but, for the good of all concerned (including the unborn babies) I am going to say it.

There are undoubtedly places in Grenada, not fit for a savage to occupy, being occupied by soldiers and their wives; large rooms, separated into cubicles by wood or even curtains; places where no privacy worthy of the name can be had; places where, figuratively, if not literally speaking, they have to stand in line to get to one commode. From hearsay, and not from personal knowledge, I am of the opinion that these accomodations are rented for excessive sums, and the OPA regulations are evaded by these accomodations being rented as "emergency" quarters.

While it is a perfectly natural impulse, in which I sympathize, for a wife to be with her soldier husband as long as possible, this method of living and these high rents strain the meager income of the couple to the extent that the wife has to starve her own self, and perhaps her unborn baby, as well as live in crowded, unsanitary quarters.

The United States Army has an undisputed right to investigate conditions where soldiers live, where they eat and where they have their recreation, and, with this right, it has the further right to declare "out of bounds" ANY place it believes to be harmful to the health or morale of the soldier or soldiers. For example, the Army could declare the GCW "out of bounds" if it found a few flies or mosquitoes in the building, for the reason that soldier visitors might contract some disease by flies or mosquitoes.

The Army has NO CONTROL WHATEVER over the wives of the soldiers. Happily this is is still a country where people may marry when and whom they choose and live where they desire. But the army, as stated, does have control of the soldiers, and can do something—even if it may seem drastic and arbitrary—about the conditions cited herein. The Army authorities CAN and, in my opinion, SHOULD investigate places where soldiers live with as much care as it does the places the soldiers eat and where they have their recreation; and SHOULD declare "out of bounds" every place were living conditions for the soldiers are such that they are menaces to their health and well being.

All of the things said above refer, of course, to the FEW places and the soldiers who fit the picture, and not to the MANY places where the soldiers and their wives live under happy, pritate and sanitary conditions and where oftentimes they become "members of the family". I venture to say that 94 percent of the places where soldiers and their wives live would not object to an inspection by army atuhorities.

Yes, the Army has a powerful weapon, if used, in its "out of bounds" club.

The Costly Home Front War

If Grenada county is to be taken a an average of the United States, we are losing about ten times the men while they are in training as we are on the fighting fronts. Just from memory, I do not recall but one man of rGenada county—Sgt. Guy Clanton—who has been killed in action, while perhaps a score have been killed while in training.

A goodly number of deaths of our home boys has occurred in planes, and the thought occurs to me whether these boys are receiving the training necessary to manage these dangerous craft? Evidence points that way. Not only have we of this county lost a good many men, but at least 18 lives have been snuffed out in planes from the nearby air base.

This is a small county. Before the body of one of our boys, "T" Man, had been lowered into its resting place, another Grenada boy, Robert Horn, had been killed. If the same percentage of casualties occurs all over the Nation, the total deaths of men in training must indeed be enormous.

Give Them A Badge Or Button

I was glad recently to see that the Commercial Appeal had an editorial on a subject that, so far as I know, was originated by myself—that is the giving to deferred, rejected and discharged men some distinctive badge, ribbon or button (backed up with proper written credential to avoid misuse of the insignia) to wear to show the general public that they are not slackers.

No layman can, by merely looking at a man, tell whether he had a serious heart trouble or other physical ailment which renders him unfit for military duty; no layman can tell, by merely looking at a man that he has tried to enter every branch of the service and has been rejected repeatedly; no layman can, by merely looking at a man, tell that he is a vital cog in the war machine, doing more important work than the man goldbricking in some inland camp.

I know that such a rejected, discharged or deferred man—having every outward appearance of health and strength—is bound to be very much embarrassed when he appears in public, for the people who do not actually know the circumstances attending his non-service status are most likely to say, "whythehell aint that so and so in the service like my boy is."

I know how I felt 25 years ago. I was not particularly mad at the Germans. Life was dear to me. But, in volunteering, I did so primarily because I knew I had no excuse, and I did not want people "lowrating" me behind my back, if not to my face. Even after the lapse of a quarter of a century, I am not claiming to be a hero.

It would be such a simple matter to give rejected, deferred and discharged men some sort of insignia showing the world that they tried, but failed.

I hope Mississippi's Senator, Jim Eastland, will look into this matter which, certainly, should appeal to everyone.

Repudiation Or Inflation Inevitable

In my humble opinion, repudiation or uncontrolled inflation (which is about the same thing) is the inevitable and inescapable end of the government's present financial policy. Not having finished paying for the first world war, the debt was tripled in the futile New Deal attempt to create prosperity by law, and now the cost of the present war, all together add to an astronomical figure, with the end nowhere in sight. Even when the war is ended, it seems to be the inevitable role of the United States to rehabilitate the devastated countries and the cost of this rehabilitation program will be added to the total debt.

The ordinary way of paying national debts is by making a profit on deals with other countries. But the countries who formerly were sources of profit to us are themselevs bankrupt, their factories and operative works wrecked or obsolete.

Day by day, the columnists and others familiar with the national picture show us where terrible wastes in tax money are being seen, where excessive salaries to superfluous workers are being paid from the national treasury and where, in general, the spoilsmen are rampant in the nation wasting our money. Senator Byrd of Virginia and a few others have railed against this vast wasting without avail. The waste continues and grows with the passage of time.

First and last the INTEREST on the public debt will bankrupt the people, not to mention any probability of reducing the debt.

The war itself is costing too much. Anyone with eyes to see can see how wasteful the army is "It's needed for the Army (or Navy)" has been an open sesame to ANYTHING. The government should let this war job out to some Irish contractor who could win it at ten percent of the present cost, I venture to say.

Building Regulations

I could cite four cases where the building regulations affecting construction within the fire district of Grenada have been or are being violated, but I will mention one now under construction—a frame coal house behind the USO-NCCS building.

If Grenada is not going to enforce building regulations, then abandon them entirely and let me, for example, build a 36x30 extesion on my brick building, using 2x4 rafters, and 1x6 pine siding.

First and last nothing can be done about the protection afforded by the building regulations wtihin the fire district, for so many precedents will be set up that a would-be builder of frame shack will say, "Whatthehell, you let so and so and this and that break the law, what about me"?

We have a good ordinace on the subject and, for the protection of the immense investments within the fire district, this ordinance should be enforced without fear or favor.

The Senior Class of Gore Springs High School was entertained with a Hallowe'en party by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ray last Saturday night. The guests enjoyed a "Scavenger Hunt." Hallowe'en fortunes and a reading of their own epitaphs in the "bone yard". The following attended the party, Jimmie James, Junior Gray, John L. Tucker, E. B. Martin, Edwin Prine, Billie Shaw, Mary Ellen Halle, and Betty Bowen. Two of the teachers also attended, Misses Smith and Hardin.

Just For Fun

Your wandering reporter has been pressed back into service this week—sort of a space-filler, we figure!

Dorothy McCracken gladdened the eyes of the boys of the 346th Infantry this Saturday, at their little party past Saturday night. It was said that she even considered wearing a formal—but we weren't there to check up on her.

We did check up on the McCoys though. They were eating out at the Officers' Division Club, as usual. They're the eating-outest couple we've ever seen, nearly. But that's a common phenonema in Grenada.

Another eater-outer is Lt. Bill Goodrich. By the time this goes to press, Bill will be just about four days away from married life. He's marrying a little girl from Mississippi, you know. She's a technician in Memphis now, but is giving up the hospital career for an Army one. Bill hails from Wisconsin. Boy, these Yankees are surely popular in these parts.

These two women are talking about their different theories of house-breaking dogs, so how can I concentrate on the romantic angle?

Oh, talking aobut domestic life, Capt. Trice, the popular Area Engineer at McCain, has just acquired a cow and little calf. There's a shortage of butter points, you know, and besides, the good Captain has decided that Lorraine needs a little wholesome exercise!

The good Captain is losing one of his clerks this week. Lorraine, the former Lorraine Von Deldon, is going to Texas to join her husband who has been transferred there.

And the former Betty Johnson has decided to settle down in Greenwood and keep house for her newly acquired husband.

Things are a little quieter at the Air Field. Mrs. Hawkins, attractive seven-week bride of Lt. Hawkins, has started to work at the Quartermaster. The little Allen girls are still making life miserable for Capt. Smith. A. K., the more sensible number, is spending most of the weeks in Memphis allegedly weaning her wisdom teeth. Of course, there is a large Naval center there, you know, but most of her fan-pictures are a little on the army-khaki side.

Still on the subject of the Base, T/Sgt. McConnell, whose wife is now messing up the property records of the Post Engineer Office, is losing weight. He weighs only 210 now, poor underfed thing. Just another example of the way the Army is starving their lads.

Speaking of Sergeants, congratulations are in order so again for Sgt. Miller, just sewing on his third stripe.

And congratulations also for the gold leaf that Major Nichols is now sporting.

Air Base Annie's Sgt. Black is still in town, that is, in town as often as Annie will let him visit the old Dubard plantation—(Don't beat me no more massah—).

But our sympathy is all for Cliff Wallace week. The tall good looking Lieutenant has a very bad cold. It is rumored that he might have caught it from being shoved out in the cold by Mrs. Allen, so early in the evening!

After this column, I will be shoved out in the cold by everyone, so I'm going to stop right now.

One more little thing, we have heard that one gold leafed officer in Camp is seriously courting Miss Eloise W., charming young lady of Grenada.

Our charming landlady, Mr. Y., we hear, has a face like a comeo. We won't dispute that, but we really think that her husband is handsome.

Enough.

Johnie Mitchell has finished his "boot" training in the USMC and is now a Pfc. Hope you be a Cpl soon.

ITALY:
Take Big Base

The once beautiful port of Naples smoked in ruins as Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth army clattered through its streets. To the north of the city, long German columns made their way toward Rome, 135 miles away, where they were expected to make their next stand in the hills.

Before giving up Naples, the Germans destroyed the elaborate docks and warehouses and other installations that had made the port one of Europe's finest. As a result, time will be required to reopen the port for Allied use in supplying the armies marching northward.

The German retreat at Naples also was influenced by Gen. Bernard Montgomery's flanking movement along the Adriatic sea coast to the East. By working its way northward, Montgomery's army had pushed behind the Germans, threatening to cut them off from the rear by crossing the mountains to the west.

WORLD AVIATION:
Seek U. S. Share

Returning from a 40,000-mile tour of the battle fronts, Senators James Mead, N. Y., Richard Russell, Ga., and Ralph Brewster, Maine, declared U. S. commercial aviation companies would be denied use of airports built in foreign countries by America.

The senators called upon congress to make provisions now for U. S. use of the airdromes by including agreements in lend-lease assistance. The senators also declared that while the U. S. was supplying the Allies with 85 per cent of their oil, Great Britain was not fully exploiting her tremendous petroleum reserves in Persia. At the present rate of consumption, they said, our oil will be used up in 11 years.

Any attempt to reduce the importance of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command in the South Pacific by placing him under the supreme direction of Lord Mountbatten would be bitterly resisted by Australian Prime Minister John Curtin, the senators said.

RUSSIA:
Near Poland

Russian troops drove within 100 miles of the old Polish border in the northern sector of the long front, while other Red forces assaulted prepared German positions on the west bank of the broad Dnieper river to the south.

Failing to hold their new line, the Germans would be pushed out of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, and they would lose substantial control of their Baltic sea route to Finland.

Stiffening German resistance and appearance of massed artillery along the west bank of the Dnieper, indicated that the Nazis were determined to make use of the broad river as one of their last natural defense lines along 750 miles. Russian crossings to the west bank in some sectors were met by prompt German counterattacks in an effort to prevent the organization of sizeable Red forces for continuation of their drive.

GAS:
New Rations

Because the Midwest and Southwest were exceeding their gasoline allotments by 75,000 barrels a day, the OPA reduced their "B" and "C" coupon rations from three to two gallons. Similar reductions were made in the Southeast.

At the same time, "B" and "C" coupon rations in the Northeast were cut from 2½ to 2 gallons, while "A" coupons in the East were boosted from 1½ to 2 gallons.

In announcing the new rations, OPA declared that it was intended to force the use of at least one gallon out of the three gallons on the "A" coupon for occupational driving.

FARM:
Guarantee Payments

Appearing before a congressional committee, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones asked for an additional 500 million dollars for the Commodity Credit corporation to provide farmers with guarantee payments in the 1944 production program.

The CCC now has a fund of 500 million dollars. It is intended to use this money for loans on major crops like wheat, cotton, corn, wool, tobacco and potatoes. With the extra 500 million dollars, guarantee payments would be advanced on vegetable oil crops, dry beans and peas, sugar beets, fresh truck and fruit crops, and canning crops.

Jones sought authority to buy surplus crops and absorb loss through resale at lower ceiling prices. He also asked power to resell perishable commodities like fruits and vegetables which the government might obtain through price-supporting purchases, at less than parity.

DRAFT:
Asks New System

Tightening up of deferments of men under 30 years of age and the draft of dads by age groups was proposed by Senator Robert A. Taft during debate on Senator Burton Wheeler's bill for postponing the induction of fathers until January 1.

Taft's proposal would grant deferments of men under 30 only if the deferment were approved by the men's own draft board and the draft board having jurisdiction in the territory where the deferment would be granted. Fathers under 28 would be called into service before those over 28 but under 30. Those over 30 would be called last.

Taft also proposed that the President establish a medical commission to study the possibility of lowering physical standards to draw more single 4F's into the service.

For Higher Allowances

Higher allowances for children of service men provided for in a senate bill, were supported by the army.

The bill would raise the monthly payment for one child from $12 to $18, and for every child thereafter from $10 to $11. The present payment of $59 to wives would be continued, with the government contributing $28 and the service man $22.

An army spokesman also advocated higher allowances for other dependents. Where a service man is not supporting a wife or child, it was recommended allowances to one parent be boosted from $37 to $80 monthly, and for two parents from $47 to $93. In cases where the service man is supporting a wife and child, allowances for a parent would be raised from $20 to $37, and for two parents from $39 to $66.

The army said it was in no position to withhold payments to financially independent or unfaithful wives.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

WAVES: Members of the WAVES, the navy's woman auxiliary, will not be permitted to serve overseas, by a provision in a bill reported out by the senate naval affairs committee.

JEWS: A separate force of Jewish soldiers may be established by Great Britain for service in Burma, it is announced from London. One or more divisions may be recruited in Palestine and the Near East.

MUSIC: Radio broadcasting stations can now get the benefit of recordings made by union musicians. By agreement the 14-month ban has been ended.

COWS: Reason for the drop in milk production, according to the secretary of the National Co-operative Pure Milk association, is that the cows "get tired" when excessively milked.

Paratrooper Over Italy

By Frank Herkness

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with The American Magazine.)

We jumped at midnight. For 30 minutes the jump door had been open, and the lieutenant, our jump master, had been standing there looking out into the moonlight and waiting for the red-light flash which meant to stand up and hook on chutes.

We had been flying a long time—much longer than actually needed to come from the African camp to Sicily. But, to throw the enemy off, we did not fly there directly.

Maybe there will never be such a night again. I've heard that 2,000 planes and 4,000 boats took part in the invasion, and I can believe it. The sky around us was filled with cargo transport planes, all loaded with paratroops, all heading for the same place, like a billion bees.

All of us were excited. For exactly one year and three days we'd been training for this, our first battle action. Three days before, we'd celebrated the anniversary by killing three beef cattle for dinner. And now the target was a few minutes ahead of us. We passed over the Sicilian coast and knew it wouldn't be long now.

The red light flashed. All of us stood up, fastened our chutes to the jump cable, and waited. Waited for what seemed hours for the green jump signal from the pilot. The plane was rocking from side to side, much worse than it ever did in the 15 practice jumps we'd made—I still don't know why.

Directly ahead and behind us we could see faintly glowing green lights—formation lights of planes ahead and behind.

Lieutenant Disappears.

The pilot's light suddenly flashed. Officers always jump first. The lieutenant yelled, "Let's go!" and leaped out into the moonlight. We never saw him again.

We followed him instantly. The plane emptied in ten seconds. I was the last to jump. The plane seemed to be going unusually fast. My chute snapped open with a terrific jerk, and my carbine disappeared. So the only weapon I had was a long trench knife.

I should have been able to see all the other chutes in our party, but I could only see one, and realized something had gone wrong. Plans called for us to be dropped at 600 feet, with the plane slowed down to almost stalling speed—about 100 miles an hour. This was so we would spend less vulnerable time floating down, and also so we would be close together when we hit.

As it turned out, we were dropped at full speed—almost 200 miles an hour—and from 1,500 feet. That's why I could see only one other chute. I kept my eyes glued on it and pulled at my shrouds to follow it.

I landed hard but safe in an orchard. The rest of the boys landed nearby. Comparing notes, we were convinced that we had been dropped in a comparatively strange country, nowhere near our target area. Actually, we were at least 50 miles off—some time I'd like to know why.

This was all orchard country, which seemed dotted with enemy troops, forcing us to move carefully. There was spasmodic firing everywhere, but we managed to avoid the enemy. We spotted the main road and headed for it. We had crept along it about 500 yards when we were challenged. It was another American, posted there in the bushes to lead anybody to a nearby farmhouse which was being used as an assembly point and first-aid station. We went in.

From prisoners we learned that we had landed a few miles from Avola, a coastal town which the British even then were attacking. There was a little hill about 200 yards from the farmhouse where, as soon as it got light, we could see the whole scene. I'll never forget it. British landings being made against airplane and artillery opposition. We could help those boys by hitting the enemy in the rear. That's what we did. Maybe it was a good thing we landed where we did. I think we did more valuable work than we would have done if we had been dropped right on the bull's eye.

From the hilltop, as far as I could see, British ships were lying just offshore, with lines of little boats moving back and forth, bringing in more British Tommies. They were getting plenty of enemy attention.

From the hills, Italian artillery was going full blast. Shells and bombs were bursting among the ships, but the little boats kept coming anyway.

It was about eight in the morning when we reached Avola and it took us until 2:30 in the afternoon to advance a little more than a mile toward the town square.

SOME people have a talent for making guests comfortable and they are not always the people with big houses and what used to be called a spare room. Many a homemaker today is graciously sharing limited space in a house or apartment because war conditions make her feel that is part of her contribution.

This sketch shows an ingenious frame under which a folding cot may be stored in a hall or other out-of-the-way corner. The frame has a full skirted cover of denim trimmed in bands of flowered chintz. On top there stands a medicine closet with feet made by gluing spools in place. This cabinet gives a convenient place for toilet articles and the mirror door is well lighted with wall brackets connected with a floor outlet.

One thing a soldier is afraid of is a display of emotion. That's why his slang so often sounds derogatory. For example, he refers to the silver eagles on his colonel's shoulder straps as "buzzards." But when he speaks of his favorite cigarette, he says: "Camels." They're first with men in the Army as well as with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen. (According to actual sales records in service men's stores.) And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Scenes of the Dutch in transplanting the quinine tree from Peru to Java helped encourage interest in the development of rubber plantations in the Far East in the early 1870's.

With all the discouragements of rubber and gasoline restrictions, automobile registrations at the end of 1942 were only 8 per cent lower than in 1941, a record year. Commercial vehicle registrations were down 5.5 per cent.

It is estimated that at one time there were between 200 million and 300 million wild rubber trees in the Amazon Valley and that less than 10 per cent have been tapped to date.

JESUS AND THE SABBATH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Isaiah 58:13, 14; Mark 2:23-3:6.

GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath.—Mark 2:27.

The sabbath was essentially a day of rest and worship; hence the principles which surrounded it and directed its life may be applied to our day of rest, which is the first day of the week—the Lord's day.

That word "rest" sounds a little strange in this busy world of ours, and yet it is an important one. It means quiet for the struggling one, calm for the troubled, repose for the weary, tranquility for the disturbed, cessation of labor for the worn-out one.

God in His infinite wisdom saw that without rest man would soon destroy himself, and He made provision for one day in seven when labor should cease and man should be free for that recreation of soul and body which should fit him for the labor of the week.

Our lesson answers two important questions about our rest day, namely, Why ? and How?

I. Why We Keep a Day of Rest (Exod. 20:8-11; Isa. 58:13, 14).

The chief reason is that God commands it. One day out of seven is for our re-creation by rest and worship. That should be sufficient to cause His people to "remember" the day "to keep it holy."

Doubtless it is true that essential war work and related activities must be carried on, even on Sunday. God did not forbid works of necessity. But even though there is this need, who will deny that many use Sunday for work that is not essential—and countless others devote it to godless pleasure.

Notice that the day of rest was to be not only for the family, but also for servants and for visitors. The employer who unnecessarily operates his factory or office on Sunday violates this commandment. Note also that the man who is to rest on the seventh day is supposed to work on the six days.

The precept of Exodus 20 is enforced by the promise of Isaiah 58. The man who delights in keeping God's commandment regarding the day of rest, will find that God delights in and honors him. Both men and nations have found this to be true.

II. How We Keep a Day of Rest (Mark 2:23-3:6).

The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt nots" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord.

The two incidents in this portion of our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the sabbath, the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ.

The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who passed through his neighbor's field. The Pharisees contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the sabbath in picking and hulling the grain.

The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their professed concern for the sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very sabbath day, these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord.

"They watched him," and even so the enemies of the Cross watch us who are His followers. They are not concerned that the man with the withered arm, or with the withered soul may be helped, but only that they may find something to condemn.

Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest.

A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this Scripture as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of necessity and mercy.

The desecration of the Lord's Day in our time is a serious matter. Let us not contribute to its deterioration. America needs Sunday as a day of rest and worship.

Start the Day Right With Waffles
(See Recipes Below.)

Breakfast Needs

How many notches are you pushing up the nutrition yardstick at breakfast time? There are three meals a day, and if your family is to receive the necessary amount of nutriment during that day you should take care of as many of these requirements at one meal as possible.

Another reason in favor of the nutritious breakfast is that it helps the family to be up and at the day's work with more zip and pep than if they just have the roll and coffee, bite-and-run excuse for breakfast.

Always have fruit or fruit juice to begin the day. Not only does it help to start the day off in good style, but it gives you some quota of your vitamins and minerals and calcium.

Eggs in one form or another have always been a breakfast favorite. Serving them during this morning meal is a splendid way of getting in at least the one egg a day or four or five a week requirement in hand. However, if you feel that eggs are too expensive to serve every day for breakfast, use fruits that contain iron, such as prunes and oatmeal and whole grain breads to make up on the vitamin B1 needs.

It's smart to introduce variety into the breakfast just as is done in the other meals. Vary breakfast breads as much as possible, the ways in which you fix eggs, the fruits served, and the cereals or other foods such as pancakes, waffles, french toast, etc.

Here's a waffle recipe guaranteed to please palates and ask for encores:

Walnut Waffles.
(Makes 4 to 6 large waffles)

- 2 well-beaten egg yolks
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 cups pastry flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 6 tablespoons melted shortening or oil
- 2 stiffly beaten egg whites
- 1 cup broken walnut kernels

Combine beaten egg yolks and milk. Add flour sifted with salt and baking powder. Then add melted shortening or oil. Beat until smooth, then fold in egg whites and nuts. Bake in ungreased waffle iron.

Toast is an old standby and even more delightful if the bread used is varied occasionally. Here are two new favorites:

Raisin Nut Bread.
(Makes 1 1-pound loaf)

- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup chopped raisins
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Cream together shortening and sugar. Beat egg and add to creamed mixture. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and allspice. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Fold in raisins and nuts. Pour into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour.

Date Bread.
(Makes 1 1-pound loaf)

- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup sugar
- 1¼ cups chopped dates
- 2 eggs
- 1¼ cups milk
- 4 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add dates. Beat eggs, milk and shortening and add to dry ingredients. Stir only until flour is well moistened. Pour into greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour.

A delicate treat for breakfast is the lacy, golden morsel corn cake which originated down south. It should be served with butter or margarine and honey:

Lacy Corn Cakes.
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 1¼ cups white water ground cornmeal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ cup shortening, melted

Add salt to cornmeal. Combine well beaten eggs, milk, melted shortening and pour into cornmeal, stirring until well combined. Pour batter, which should be very thin, into a pitcher and stir thoroughly before pouring each pancake into a well greased griddle or skillet. Turn the pancake as it begins to brown. They should be paper-thin and have a lacy effect.

No one could ask for a more satisfying breakfast than the luscious sweetness of maple syrup combined with light, fluffy tender buttermilk pancakes:

Buttermilk Pancakes.
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups (scant) buttermilk
- 2 tablespoons shortening, melted

Sift together flour, salt and soda. Mix beaten eggs, melted shortening and buttermilk. Add to flour mixture gradually, beating until smooth. Fry in hot, greased griddle. Serve with maple syrup.

Cereal Tricks

Keep your breakfasts interesting by using plenty of unrationed cereals in different, delicious ways. For example, you can add a little melted shortening to cereal flakes, form a nest in a muffin pan, drop an egg into it, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and bake in a slow (325° F.) oven until firm. If the family tires of one cereal, make a cereal medley of several different prepared, ready-to-eat cereals and serve with fruit or berries, sugar and cream.

Lynn Says:

Top of the Morning! A recent survey of students' breakfast habits revealed the following facts. About 50,000 students were contacted.

Most students do eat breakfast, but there are still some who go without it. Over half of them have rolls or bread of some kind, but more than half do not have breakfast food of any kind.

The larger percentage did not have fruit or milk—a must item for students' breakfasts.

About a fifth of the amount interviewed do not have meat or eggs for breakfast.

According to their own opinion, most of them feel they do not have an adequate breakfast.

The USO depends on your dollars to carry on its work as do sixteen other war agencies — and our needy here at home. Let your heart decide now what you should give — then double your contribution. You help on the fighting front — the Allied Nations front — and our home front when you give to the National War Fund — through your own community campaign.
